Ah, Blood Flows! Duel Is a Wow!

By KENNETH T. DOWNS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 20—Observing all the punctilio of the code duello and surrounded by an army of seconds, doctors and mourners ready to weep on demand, two of France's most noted playwrights, Henry Bernstein and Edouard Bourdet, fought it out with rapiers in a private park in Neuilly today.

Honor was avenged, for Bernstein, the offended one, drew blood. The encounter was ended the moment blood appeared on Bourdet's right biceps, signalizing that in this modern day and age a crimson trace of d'Artagnan remains in evidence in France.

The duel lasted only eight minutes, and gauze and adhesive plaster obliterated the "carnage." But

Stocks Firm Up After Selling Off

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Offerings dwindled substantially after an opening sell-off in today's stock market and initial losses running to $1 a share or more were chipped down or changed into moderate gains.

Dealings, fairly fast at the start, slowed as the session progressed.

Hitler's Choice?—Beautiful Princess Maria, 23, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, who is said to be giving Nazi leader heart-throbs. There are rumors he has already asked for her hand. Marriage would cement Berlin-Rome axis tighter than any treaty.

Queen Startled as Auto Swerves, Roars at Throng

BOLTON, Lancashire, England, May 20 (AP)—The limousine of King George and Queen Elizabeth swerved almost into a mass of cheering people today when a frightened police horse bolted and darted in front of the car.

The startled queen shrank back in her seat, but the chauffeur pulled the car straight at the edge of the crowd and their majesties' tour of Lancashire proceeded.

Detective Reveals Talk in Fix Trial

"You know that German baker down in Columbus avenue? I offered him $100."

In a voice identified as that of Robert E. Dinsmore, this report was overheard by a listener from the suite of Edmund L. Dolan in the Hotel Statler, it was testified today in Superior court.

The testimony was by Alfred A. Bligh, employe of the P. J. Burke National Detective Agency, witness at the trial of Dolan, Dinsmore, J. Walter Quinn and Harold Simpson on contempt of court charges growing out of alleged jury tampering.

It is charged by the state that in the Statler suite, the work was done toward attempting to "fix" prospective jurors for the trial of Dolan, Quinn and Edward J. Supple in another case.

Bligh further testified today that he heard Dolan say, in the suite:

"Well, we've got 12 certain ones we're sure of."

"I make it 17," Dinsmore replied, according to the witness.

Bligh, husky, short-necked

Czechs Grant Nazi Demand

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 20 (INS)—At the behest of Great Britain and France, the Czech government today initiated measures to settle the German minority problem and thereby remove one of the perils to European peace.

The government, it was officially announced, invited Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, to negotiate a statute covering the autonomy demanded by the Henlein factions.

French Warships Gather at Tunisia

PARIS, May 20 (AP)—France's Mediterranean fleet today concentrated off Bizerta, naval base of French Tunisia, which adjoins Italian Libya, amid European tension over suspension of Franco-Italian friendship negotiations.

Seven cruisers and 18 destroyers dropped anchor in Bizerta Harbor in preparation for combined night war games with air forces.

Tobin, Wife Plan To Fish in Maine

Mayor Tobin expects to take fishing lessons from Mrs. Tobin at Rangeley lakes, Me., next week, he said today.

"She's the Ike Walton of our family," the mayor told newspapermen.

He announced that he and Mrs. Tobin, accompanied by Mayor Thomas Bergen of Quincy and Mrs. Bergen, will leave for Maine early next Wednesday.

Romance at End of Axis

PREMIER MUSSOLINI
Match-Making Again?

Duce Cupid for Nazi Chief, Italy Princess

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

ROME, May 20—The possibility of a budding romance between Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany and beautiful Princess Maria, 23-year-old daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, stirred court and social circles here today.

The romance has gone so far, according to tea-table rumor, that the Nazi dictator, rated as Europe's No. 1 bachelor, is reported already to have asked for the princess' hand.

Hitler is reported to have been smitten by the beauty of the Italian princess during his recent visit to Rome.

Princess Maria some time ago was reported engaged to marry Archduke Otto, but Premier Mussolini cancelled the match when it appeared obvious the Hapsburg prospects of regaining the Austrian throne were nil.

An equally unconfirmable rumor was that the King and Queen would visit Germany in the near future as guests of Hitler. He was their guest on his visit here earlier this month.

Both reports, that of the romance as well as that of the impending visit of the King and Queen to the Reich, are believed to have been inspired by Italo-German political quarters for the purpose of indicating to the world at large the extent of German-Italian friendship.

It is certain, diplomatic observers declare, that a Hitler-Maria wedding or a visit to the Reich by the King and Queen would do more to weld the two nations together than any amount of speeches or demonstrations.

Vatican sources completely discount the reports of an impending marriage, maintaining that such a union would be impossible unless Hitler modified his anti-church activity.

Other quarters, however, point out that Hitler is a Catholic and that the union might thus be accomplished.

Chinese Fliers 'Bomb' Japan With Appeals

HANKOW, China, May 20 (AP)—Chinese crews of two big American-made bombing planes were given a triumphal welcome today when they returned from what Chinese army aviation headquarters described as a flight over western Japan in which leaflets were dropped instead of bombs.

The airmen were said to have covered 2500 miles, the longest non-stop flight ever made by Chinese fliers. Their enthusiastic homecoming occurred at Hankow airdrome.

Premier H. H. Kung and War Minister General Ho Ying-Ching headed the 27 Chinese leaders who greeted them.

OVER NAVAL BASE

It is understood they visited principally the district containing Nagasaki, 470 miles from Shanghai, and Sasebo, the great naval base.

Earlier reports the planes had flown over Tokyo were denied by Chinese officials.

However, motor trucks cruised Hankow streets flying banners inscribed "Confusion Over Tokyo and Osaka," and reports were current that the planes cruised 20 minutes over Osaka.

SHOWS JAPAN DANGER

Premier Kung declared the flight "made Japan realize it is possible for Chinese aircraft to reach her islands."

France Retreats In Italian Clash

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 20—European tension, drawn to a critical point by French-Italian differences over Spain, was suddenly eased today when France partly retreated in her demands for proportional withdrawal of foreign "volunteers" from Spain.

With Italy menacing France's North African colony of Tunisia, and with Italo-French negotiations for a friendship treaty nearing collapse, France made unspecified concessions regarding the vexing "volunteer" question.

France thereby made it possible for the Earl of Plymouth to summon the Spanish non-intervention committee to meet May 26 to review the situation and discuss "restoration of border control and withdrawal of "volunteers."

France, it was understood, has accepted in principle the British formula for early withdrawal of an equal number of "volunteers" from each side in Spain's civil war. Following such a "token" withdrawal, recall of alien soldiers is to be made by classifications, such as infantrymen, artillerymen, aviators, and technicians.

In agreeing to a discussion of border control, moreover, France is making a concession with regard to the Italian charge that arms and ammunition are flowing freely over the Pyrenees to government Spain.

While Britain strove to end the animosity between Rome and Paris these capitals as well as those of Germany, Russia and Czechoslovakia were the scenes of important diplomatic consultations aimed at preserving the props of Europe's peace structure.

Cardenas Marches On Mexico Foes

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico, May 20 (AP)—General Saturnino Cedillo spread his peasant army into the hills today to prepare for guerrilla warfare with the army of President Cardenas.

He would not start it but he was ready with arms to repel "all aggression," said Cedillo, 45-year-old Mexican Indian, Rightist political opponent of Cardenas and for 20 years the dominant power of San Luis.

Cedillo was plotting rebellion, charged Cardenas, 42-year-old radical leader.

ANOTHER SPAIN SEEN

Their dispute was that between the Right and the Left, and many feared that if fighting began it might spread through the nation and make Mexico another Spain.

The Cedillistas fixed their number at 18,000 to 20,000. Cardenas, invading San Luis in person to establish calm, had 10,000 troops in the state.

Cedillo said he had "trustworthy" information the President was preparing to "try to crush me by force of arms," and that attack might come today. He kept to his vast Las Palomas estate near here with less than a dozen men last night, but his peasant force had taken to the hills, and Cedillo was ready to follow.

Cedillo said in an interview with the Associated Press that the Mexican people were "tired of the infamous dictatorship, with Communistic trimmings, that is putting an end to all sources of wealth and submerging the country in ruin and misery."

DETERMINED TO FIGHT

The agrarian leader, who quit the army this week rather than leave his home estate for a new post, contended that his "moderate tendencies always had and have now the support of all the sane elements of the country."

Defiantly he laid down his determination to resist.

"I am ready to repel all aggression by means of arms, but I place the responsibility for the blood that may be shed on the caprice of the man who seeks to make of Mexico a dependent of the Soviet."

Japs Mop Up As Commanders Enter Suchow

SHANGHAI, May 20 (AP)—High commanders of the Japanese army made a triumphal entry into fallen Suchow today as their victorious army mopped up Chinese forces around the strategic city.

The vital rail junction was completely occupied, the Japanese announced, and their army was closing in on 35,000 Chinese troops said to be trapped.

They said major Chinese forces were retreating south.

Bad Weather Blocks Spain War Action

Harvard Fathers Lash 'Red' Hicks

Strong protests against appointment of Communist Granville Hicks to the Harvard faculty for next fall have been registered with the Alumni office by two irate fathers, it was learned today.

SCORES "ISMS" — Merwin K. Hart, Harvard '04, who assails appointment of Granville Hicks as member of Harvard faculty this coming fall.

Both "old-grads" wrote letters charging that Harvard was "digging its own grave." Writer of the longest letter was Merwin K. Hart, '04, prominent New York business man and father of Merwin "Kim" Hart, student who was fired from the panel of the Harvard Young Conservatives League for his vehement stand against the Hicks appointment.

TOO STRONGLY 'ISM

"The great objection to the Hicks appointment," Mr. Hart declared, "is that so many of the universities, including Harvard, are in such strong sympathy with these various 'isms,' whose moving idea is that the American system has failed and that something must be substituted for it.

"What we need is a great revival of Americanism. The far greater harm that the universities are doing with their radicalism—and especially Harvard University—is in losing the opportunity to save the American system for the American people; for such institutions as these [u]niversities (richly endowed, for the most part, and where you and I know the freedom to teach is unlimited) came into existence, and will continue, only under the system of free, American private enterprise."

Strong support of this point of view was voiced by Edward B. Starbuck, '14, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who wrote:

"I wish to go on record as being strongly against the appointment of Mr. Hicks.

"DRAW LINE SOMEWHERE"

"After all, an individual, a community, a college and a nation should stand for something and against certain things. The line for all abstractions such as 'academic freedom' must be drawn somewhere. Certainly the advocacy of murder would not be tolerated.

"I know, if I know anything now, that much of what I have learned has been repeated, that the minds of men of college age are influenced by what their instructors teach. I do not desire my son to be influenced in favor of Communism."

Sternly lashing out at Leverett Saltonstall, also a Harvard grad, who has written in regarding the Hicks appointment, Mr. Starbuck added:

"I agree with Mr. Saltonstall when he states that 'when flag-raising politicians deny to Communists and other radicals freedom of meeting and expression, they not only help to advertise their cause, but to make martyrs of them as well,' but it does not follow that I shall build them a hall, furnish them with an audience, by inference approve of them, and pay them to boot."

Harvard Wife Gets Divorce From Anastos

MRS. WENONAH BELL ANASTOS

Prolonged conferences in Judge Arthur E. Beane's chambers in Middlesex probate court resulted today in a settlement in Mrs. Wenonah Bell Anastos' suit for divorce against Milton Basil Anastos, librarian of Harvard divinity school.

Judge Beane granted Mrs. Anastos her dvorce and custody of her two-year-old son after a stipulation had been agreed to that Mrs. Anastos will bring the little boy to Cambridge where his father can see him for a week on four separate occasions each year.

Also, the stipulations agree, she will bring the child to Cambridge for a month eac hsummer.

The divorce was granted on Mrs. Anastos' charges of cruelty. Counsel for Mrs. Anastos was Joseph A. Locke; for Anastos, F. W. Hibbard. Mrs. Anastos is to receive $15 a week for the support of the child, plus traveling expenses when she comes to Cambridge.

'Hoax Wife' Gives Up Fort in Braintree

Mrs. Mary Hannaford, charged by her wealthy husband with being a "hoax mother," today voluntarily gave up possession of their Grove street, South Braintree, home, which she had taken by stratagem and held by force.

Reporters at the scene were told by a "mysterious voice" from behind screens that Mrs. Hannaford had taken her doctor's advice and gone for a short rest with her two children.

Hannaford, head of a prominent contracting company, also was in hiding following his attempts to take over his home. Glass in the windows was shattered, bearing witness to the siege, and doors were barricaded.

The battle started when Hannaford filed a petition for annulment of his marriage, charging his wife had twice gone to the hospital, ostensibly to give birth to children, and returned each time with a child he claimed was not her own.

She countered with a suit demanding compensation for services as his housekeeper before their marriage.

Austrian Borgia Doomed to Death

VIENNA, May 19 (INS)—Red-haired Martha Marek, 40-year-old "Borgia," today was sentenced to death for the poison murders of four persons—among them her husband and her infant daughter.

One Roof Over Quins And 9 Other Dionnes

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 20 (Canadian Press)—Papa Oliva and Mama, the quins and the seven other little Dionnes at last are to live under one roof as one family.

Thus will be ended the cause of much resentment by the senior Dionnes, who have wanted their famous five at home with their other children since the quins became wards of the king and set up house in their own nursery.

The quins will be four years old May 28.

There now has begun "a new spirit of co-operation," said Dionne's attorney, who, with Judge J. A. Valin, chairman of the quintuplet board of guardians, announced the projected setup.

QUINS TO PAY

Plans are to be drafted at once for a new home at Corbiel, five miles north of the present house and the nursery at Callander. It will house all the Dionnes and should be ready by September.

Near-millionaires with earnings from their movie and advertising contracts, the quins are to pay for their new abode, which will be so constructed that it can be halved to isolate them in the event of illness.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, who helped bring the quintuplets into the world, will continue as their doctor and will hire their nurses. Duncan McArthur, deputy minister of education for Ontario, will supervise the addition of any teachers.

CURB DIONNE POWER

Father Dionne twice may force discharge of a nurse or teacher, but after that may only recommend dismissals to be acted upon by the other guardians.

Dionne withdraws protests he has made against employment of Louise Corriveau as nurse for the quins, but may bring up the matter again one month hence. Teacher Nora Rouselle is to be released when a planned motion picture is completed.

Dionne has been opposed to public exhibition of his children, but showings will be held this summer and the decision for next year will be reached later.

The agreement between guardians and parent was reached yesterday.

MRS. NORA C. ROUSELLE

"Well, that's the first time I was given any satisfaction," Father Dionne said afterwards.

Harvard Deans Ban 'Date Bureau'

Harvard's "date bureau," formed yesterday by two freshmen, had become just another chapter in history today as irate deans sat on the budding business and squashed it flat.

The yearlings settled back into gloom as their hopes of getting "75 to 100 attractive girls" for the jubilee dance tomorrow were shattered.

French Sailors Mark Lafayette Day

A colorguard of French bluejackets from the Ville d'Ys, anchored at Charlestown navyyard, marched to Boston Common today for Lafayette Day exercises.

This is the 104th anniversary of the death of the youthful French general.

Mayor Tobin and French Consul Francois Briere placed a wreath on the Lafayette tablet on the Tremont street mall.

Girl Tells Of Revels in Mattapan

A Dorchester high school girl's story of wild parties staged in a house in Norwell street, Mattapan, launched an investigation today by Boston and Metropolitan district police.

Authorities believed revels at the alleged "party-house" might account for recent reports of Dorchester and Roxbury girls missing from their homes for periods of a few days or nights.

The amazing story on which the investigation was based was told police by one of two high school girls picked up by officers on Revere Beach boulevard early today.

The girls were trying to "thumb" an auto ride back to Boston, police said.

One of the girls allegedly admitted she had run away from her home in Sewell street, Neponset.

The other girl described the "wild parties" at the house in Mattapan.

What, No Guns? YD Can't Shoot Invading Foe!

PROVIDENCE, May 20 — Anti-aircraft companies which would be called upon to defend Massachusetts against bomb attacks in case of war, "haven't even guns to shoot with," Major General Daniel J. Needham told Yankee Division veterans here today.

Addressing the first business session of the YD's annual convention, General Needham described one Massachusetts National Guard regiment as having only one anti-aircraft gun.

MUST HAVE GUNS

"We're away behind on equipment," he said. "So is the Army, generally.

"In Massachusetts, we've been begging for new guns and other anti-aircraft apparatus, but they've told us we'll have to wait until 1940.

"We'll have to keep after the powers that be, in Washington, to get modern weapons so, if we go to war, we'll have something to fight with."

OVERSEAS MEN ONLY

General Needham is commander of the 26th Division, Massachusetts National Guard, and a veteran of the World War YD.

Just before he spoke today, the YD convention voted down a proposed constitutional amendment which would have opened Yankee Division association membership to veterans who did not go overseas.

Awaiting action were resolutions condemning un-American activities of "Reds" and other "subversive groups."

Attendance was estimated in excess of 5000 today, with members and friends still pouring into the city.

Tomorrow's big parade is expected to be watched by vast crowds.

Hayes Posts Bail In Waterbury

WATERBURY, Ct., May 20 (INS) — Mayor T. Frank Hayes (D.), Connecticut's lieutenant-governor, and ten others charged by a grand jury with having defrauded the city of Waterbury of more than a million dollars, surrendered in Superior court today and posted bonds for their release.

Mayor Hayes' mother posted bonds of $25,000 for her son and also $10,000 for Henry W. Minor, police and fire commissioner.

Others who surrendered were:

Vets Win Backing Of Pension Boost

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — War veterans made a successful plea to a Senate sub-committee today for liberalization of pensions for totally and permanently disabled former service men. The sub-committee approved a measure already passed by the House increasing the minimum monthly pension for non-service connected disabled veterans from $30 to $40.

Urge $7500 Pay for District Judge

Adoption of a measure to give district court justices a top salary of $7500 provided they agree to drop the private practice of law, in place of their present salary of $4500 and outside practice, was recommended to the Massachusetts Legislature today by the committee on judiciary.

U. S. Planes Hunt Fleet of 'Enemy'

Dog Is Jailed in Cell With Master

DELHI, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—A collie dog is serving a 60-day sentence in Delaware County jail with his master.

Sentenced by Justice William Phelps to 60 days for stealing $1.74 from milk bottles, Clyde O. Sheldon, 44, of New Berlin, N. Y., asked permission to keep the dog with him, saying:

"He's all I have in the world."

WEDDING FETE MARRED

PERU, Ind., May 20 (AP)—One month before their golden wedding anniversary, Mrs. Ira McIntosh filed suit for divorce, charging her husband treated her cruelly.

Baer Weeps As Son Gains

OAKLAND, Cal., May 20 (INS)—Suffering from bronchial pneumonia, Max Baer, Jr., five-months-old son of the former world's heavyweight champion, underwent a blood transfusion today.

Max, Sr., gave the blood, a pint from his right arm. The child showed definite improvement shortly afterward, according to the attending physician.

Mrs. Baer collapsed today from worry over the condition of Max, Jr. Max himself was under a doctor's care because of the strain.

"The little guy has got to pull through. He's my whole inspiration. He's got to live," said the one-time champion, tears welling in his eyes.

Parents Still Spare Rod In Defiance of Court

FITCHBURG, May 20 (AP) — The parents of two boys ordered horsewhipped by Judge Thomas F. Gallagher for the theft of wire from a railroad signal system remained adamant today in their refusal to carry out the sentence.

Whether or not the boys receive parental punishment they must appear again before the 82-year-old jurist on June 8. Judge Gallagher, who has ordered similar punishment in the past with beneficial results, continued the case on Wednesday while suggesting the horsewhipping.

Regarded as one of the ablest jurists in this section, Judge Gallagher has been on the bench for 45 years. Those familiar with his record asserted today he never had been reversed on a point of law.

Labor Officials Back TWOC Drive

The Textile Workers' Organizing Committee of the CIO today had the co-operation of federal and state labor officials in a planned drive to organize and stabilize the woolen and worsted industry of New England to eliminate ruinous competition and wage-cutting.

Flood Boston With Air Mail

Postoffices in Massachusetts were flooded with air mail letters today, carried by planes from 50 cities and towns over a special network of routes to celebrate establishment of the service 20 years ago.

Topping yesterday's "Pick-up Day" programs were exercises on Boston Common, during which Mayor Tobin urged immediate help from federal and state governments in expanding the Boston Airport.

At the airport, 100 planes came from all directions with loads of mail, to be greeted by Postmaster Peter F. Tague of Boston and prominent officials and fliers.

Widow Weeps On Stand in $10,000 Suit

Mrs. Leonie M. Blake, attractive Back Bay widow, burst into tears and had to be excused temporarily from the witness stand today, shortly before her $10,000 suit against the estate of the late John P. Joyce went to a Suffolk Superior Court jury.

The comely plaintiff seeks to recover money she claims Joyce promised her in payment for care which she gave him, during a time when he lived at her home, prior to his death in 1936.

Her breakdown on the witness stand came as Mrs. Blake was being questioned in regard to the alleged friendship between herself and Joyce.

The latter, a retired hotel proprietor, left his estate to relatives making no provision in his will for Mrs. Blake.

As counsel delivered final arguments, Mrs. Blake sat weeping.

Her lawyer, Attorney William Sullivan, asserted that $20 a week, allegedly paid her by Joyce, was "obviously inadequate" compensation for the care she claims to have lavished on her aged and ailing boarder.

DivorceeBroke, Suicide by Gas

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—With only 26 cents left in her purse, the divorced wife of a Columbia Broadcasting Company executive today garbed herself in black—symbolic of mourning—and lay down on the bed in her modest lower Park avenue apartment.

Hours later the building superintendent entered with a pass key and found Mrs. Helen Willis, 32, lying under an invisible blanket of illuminating gas.

Doctors said she had been dead for hours.

Detectives found the 26 cents, a rent bill due today, and a divorce decree issued on June 25, 1934, at Newburgh, N. Y., dissolving the marriage of Helen Thornton and Frederick A. Willis.

Willis, assistant to President William S. Paley of the Columbia Broadcasting System, was in Washington, but his present wife said he formerly was married to a Helen Thornton.

Tech Head Holds Research Key To Recovery

Research and not pump-priming is the elixir for employment, good wages, good profits and good government, Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of M. I. T., declared today in a radio address at University Club commemorating research day in New England.

Assailing the huge spending of the Roosevelt administration, Dr. Compton said:

"I venture to affirm that if a quarter of the money that has been poured down the financial pump for priming purposes had been wisely devoted to research and development of industrial products, we would not now be faced with another pouring of money down the same hole.

"Research creates wealth, does not merely reshuffle it. To a large extent, the New Deal has been played with the same old greasy cards."

New England has its share of unemployed, said Dr. Compton.

"We want to find work for these people, not temporary makeshift jobs, doles and political handouts.

"We want to get our governmental agencies out of relief work as soon as possible."

and with the general build of a heavyweight boxer or wrestler, said that some of his listening while he was ensconced in an adjoining room was done in a closet, with his ear against the wall.

He took notes, he said, some of them on paper and some written on the wall. But each succeeding day he washed the notes off the painted wall with soap and water.

DINSMORE TAKES A HAND

Under cross-examination, Bligh denied that he is known as a "strongarm man" and "a bodyguard for gangsters," but he admitted that in December, 1934, he was fined $20 in Somerville on a charge of larceny from one Gladys Kane.

He worked in the Dolan investigation, he said, under Daniel J. Haley of South Boston, connected with the detective agency.

At one point in Bligh's testimony, following several assertions that he had heard Dinsmore's voice in the Statler suite 1400-1402, Dinsmore rose and objected.

"Just out of self-preservation, I beg your pardon; I would like to know if he qualifies as a voice expert," said Dinsmore.

"He doesn't have to," replied Judge Frederick W. Fosdick, who is presiding at the contempt of court trial.

"WALLY'S" VOICE, TOO

Bligh said that after Dinsmore had reported offering "that German baker down in Columbus avenue" $100, a voice Bligh described as Dolan's answered:

"That's all right."

There was another voice in the room that responded to the name of "Wally," the witness said.

During his listening period on the night of Saturday, April 16, according to Bligh, he heard the Dinsmore voice mention the name Foley and add:

"He's a good talker. I promised him a couple of hundred bucks."

It was then that the Dolan voice commented about the "12 certain ones we're sure of," the witness said.

"SAY YOUR PRAYERS"

Bligh said the Dinsmore voice mentioned several names — Garrity, Drew, Foley, the German baker and one name Bligh did not catch.

"These fellows ought to be worth a couple of hundred apiece," the Dinsmore voice said, according to the witness. "If we win we'll give them nice presents."

"Good night, Bobby," the Dolan voice then said, according to Bligh. "Don't forget to say your prayers tonight."

Then, Bligh said, he heard a door slam and heard the following conversation, identified with the following voices:

Wally: "That's one fellow who's on the level."

Dolan: "Dinsmore is doing good work."

The Dolan voice then said something about $16,000 and "I haven't got anything out of it yet," Bligh testified.

"WARMED HIM UP"

On April 18, Blight said, he heard the Dinsmore voice say in the suite:

"I saw Garrity at his home. He got cold, but I warmed him up again. I spoke to Daley for a final O. K. on Curran. Lovett O. K.'s Curran. Creehan, down at Worcester square, turned out O. K."

Then the name Wilson was mentioned, according to the witness, and the Dinsmore voice said:

"He's a darling; he'll go through 100 per cent!"

Next the name Collins was spoken and the Dinsmore voice advised:

"Cross him off; he's been on a hung jury. Mucker McGrath has some names."

Then there was talk about an appointment with someone at 27 School street.

Blood Flows, Honor Avenged In Paris Duel

even Cyrano, dispatching half a dozen sneering enemies with vicious saber thrusts, could not have made a more impressive job of it.

STILL BITTER FOES

The encounter took place in the parklike garden of wealthy M. Fauchier-Magnan. When Bernstein arrived a policeman was at the entrance to forbid him to carry out the duel, but the playwright brushed past.

The adversaries removed their coats, but kept their hats on and fought nip and tuck until the third minute of the second round.

Then Baurdet launched a serious body attack, during which the clash of steel was audible beyond the garden wall. Bernstein countered Bourdet's thrust and caught him at the biceps, his sword penetrating to the bone.

There was so much bad feeling, as a matter of fact, that Bourdet attempted to continue after he was cut but his seconds and the doctors prevented. There was no reconciliation, either, as is usually the case. Both men stalked off the field without shaking hands.

Bernstein, who is 67, had a distinct advantage, for he was a noted duellist before the war and has fought a half dozen combats while Bourdet never before met an adversary on the field of honor.

FIGHT OVER PLAY

But the latter acquitted himself admirably, witnesses declared, and only the modern code which decrees an end to hostilities the moment blood is drawn finished the encounter.

The duel had its genesis in a quarrel over presentation of Bernstein's latest play "Judith" at the Comedie Francaise, of which Bourdet is managing director.

Bernstein charged Bourdet sought to present the play without sufficient rehearsal. Bourdet, author of the controversial play "The Captive," regarded this as an aspersion upon the integrity of the Comedie Francaise and replied with an open letter offering to meet Bernstein in a duel.

Bernstein responded:

"I shall not fail to be there."

The Horse Came First

CONCORD, N. H., May 20—Time and tide wait for no man —says Louis Putney, a farmer from Bow.

When Putney drove his horse here, he found modern automobiles parked in a small section behind the police station, which for 25 years had been reserved for horse-drawn vehicles.

Without comment, he got out a chain and padlocked Dobbin to an automobile. Protests of the impatient motorist went for naught with police. They told him he would have to wait until Putney returned from shopping.

Civil Service Parley Held

Ten minute discussions on national civil service problems took place today as the second session of the Eastern Region Conference of the Civil Service Assembly in Hotel Statler.

More than 100 delegates from the United States and Canada attended.

Professor Arthur M. Holcombe of Harvard spoke on "The Current Issues in the Civil Service," and Professor William F. Mosher, of Syracuse University, discussed administrative training.

Those in attendance included Paul J. Kelly, civil service commissioner of New York City; Chief Examiner James E. O'Neill of Boston; Chief Clerk Perain A. Richardson, of Boston; Frank H. Dengler of New York state civil service department; Arthur H. Aronson, personnel director of the Social Security Board, and William Doyle, personnel director of the state board of finance.

2 Missing Revere Girl Wards Found

Betty Pezzi, 8, and Blanche Bruno, 7, of Tuckerman street, Revere, state wards were safe at home today after their "excursion" to the city got them no farther than Beachmont, where they curled up on an Everhard street piazza and slept.

Aspell Jobs Under Fire

Charges that relatives of Representative John F. Aspell of Roxbury, Democratic House floor leader, were favored over long-service employes in the granting of public works jobs were contained in a letter to be handed Governor Hurley today by the resolutions committee of the Middlesex County Selectmen's Association.

The letter demands that Middlesex employes discharged from the public works department during the budget battle be reinstated.

It cites "the peculiar coincidence that two of the reinstated employes by the name of Aspell, and residing in Roxbury, bear a striking resemblance, in both name and address, to the Democratic floor leader of the House."

Questions and resolutions made out by the committee, which it had hoped to present to the governor personally Tuesday, were included in the letter. The governor refused to confer with a visiting delegation, on the grounds it represented a "political organization."

Action Brisk At Roxbury Fire

Mrs. Annie E. White, 68, was rescued and 15 persons fled to the street when a two-alarm fire swept a four-story apartment house in Hammond street, Roxbury, early today. Damage amounted to $2500.

Hands Off Politics, President's Idea

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, May 20 (INS)—Although his cabinet officers have been busy promoting the political fortunes of New Deal favorites in Democratic primaries, President Roosevelt told reporters today he was taking no part in any of these state contests.

[illegible] primary today where Governor Olson is H Mate, is being opposed by a [illegible] Non Partisan state senator Henry L. Hoss.

John L. Lewis, CIO director was a luncheon guest at the White House today. But that, the President said, had no political significance as Lewis visited him on other matters.

Reporters plied Roosevelt with questions concerning political developments. They got little for their pains however except the [illegible] he [illegible] that he is not participating in these primaries.

In reply to a direct question Roosevelt said he had taken no part in the Pennsylvania primaries [illegible] nor does he [illegible] in the Oregon primary.

Roosevelt was asked whether he would like to see a Democratic [illegible] in [illegible]. He replied and hinted that he would [illegible] to do so would promote similar inquiries regarding other states.

Flood Control Measure Sent To Senate

WASHINGTON, May 20 (INS)—The House today sent to the Senate a bill calling for a new comprehensive flood control program [illegible] and carrying an appropriation for initial appropriations totaling approximately $375,000,000.

The measure was approved by the House 346 to 4 after a brief but detailed discussion of its provisions.

The lower chamber approved a provision authorizing the federal government to construct oil pipelines from the proposed $4 million Red River [illegible] Texas, after four hours of debate on the measure, and Massachusetts Representative McCormack (D) of Massachusetts who urged that the authorization be extended to the New England projects as well as [illegible] which would receive all power rights to the states.

Expert Gives Hints On Right Methods

By ANN MARSTERS

It's amazing how much you'll talk to a great beauty expert' you can [illegible] when you visit Helena Rubinstein's Fashion Salon of Eternal Youth, as I did [illegible] today.

Take the case of Mme. Helena R[illegible] who [illegible] at [illegible]

"Any woman—any average woman," she says, "can keep her physical beauty and charm until she is 75 years old."

RIGHT WAY

"Your first [illegible] to care for your body when you are still young. See [illegible] you're in your early twenties the first lines appear and [illegible] which begins to fade. The past is never a time those first signs of age to appear."

20 MINUTES A DAY

As for the complexion, Mme. Rubinstein said:

"If women would spend but 20 minutes every day in caring for their skin, in applying the correct preparations, it could not fail to remain fresh and clear and alive."

Mme. Rubinstein frankly admits that she herself does not have time to do all the 72 steps she advocates in the name of beauty. She works [illegible] an average of 16 hours a day and keeps in close contact with her stores, both here and abroad.

She began her career 38 years ago in Australia, when she bought a formula for a certain "skin-[illegible] cream." The first year it was on the market she made a profit of $10,000. (The profit on each jar was 10 cents.)

Semi-Classic Concerting On Radio Realm Schedule

By N. F. T.

LIKELY TO BE liked is the radio concert, starring Lucille Manners, this evening (WNAC) between 8 and 9 o'clock. Frank Black selections for orchestral offering seem particularly appealing.

MISS MANNERS has "When Old Friends Meet" and "Yesterday" for soloing impressions while Black brings a special string arrangement of "Songs My Mother Taught Me," plus picked portions of the vivid "Chu-Chin-Chow" light opera.

HEARING ALICE O'Leary will be good (WAAB) tonight, when the popular local songstress holds forth with Adrian O'Brien, Walter Kidder, Francis Croton at the organ and the Andy Jacobsen orchestra at 8 o'clock dial division. Louis Travers will master the ceremonies heading the annual Crosscup-Peabody Post of the American Legion presentation marking the appeal for funds to send impoverished Hub boys and girls to country surroundings this summer. It's a half hour with high purpose.

Alice O'Leary

FUN IN THE WEEKLY "Tim and Irene" style (WBZ) this evening from 9 to 9:30 deals with hedge trimming and other timely garden activities.

LIKEWISE FOR laughs, despite the title seeming so serious and awesome, is the "Ghost of Benjamin Sweet" drama (WEEI) having 8 o'clock placement tonight.

ENDING OF "Air Mail Week" and all the air time consumed observing it from coast to coast these next six days is marked in part today (WEEI) by presentation of a plaque to Postmaster General James A. Farley by selected overseas Knabenshue-rated as Pilot Pilot No. 1 last year. So many plots have been made he said, to rain waffle out of Washington between 2:3 and 2:45 this afternoon.

Tops on Air

5:45 p. m.—WMEX—"Uncle Newt" reading the comic pages of the Boston Evening American.

9:00 p. m.—WEEI—"Hollywood Hotel" with Louise Parker picture preview, plus Frank Parker, Frances Langford, Anne Jamison and Raymond Paige's Orchestra.

10:00 p. m.—WEEI—The Songshop, with Singin' Sam and Nadine Connor, Reed Kennedy and Gustav Haenschen's Orchestra.

News Briefs

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 20 (AP)—Despite a vast reduction in tuberculosis deaths, the white plague is still the leading cause of death among industrial wage earners, the New Jersey Tuberculosis League was told today by Dr. Leverett D. # THIS IS WHAT CARBON DOES TO YOUR VALVES

CORRECT IT BY USING JENNEY Solvenized Gasoline

HARD carbon deposits on valves and valve seats prevent tight seating—power is lost, operation is sluggish, gasoline is wasted.

Until now it has been impossible for you to prevent the formation of hard carbon in your car. But now—here's a gasoline that attacks carbon already formed, and works to prevent hard carbon deposits.

JENNEY Hy-Power or JENNEY Aero will check hard carbon in your motor by dissolving the carbon binder. Thus carbon is changed to a soft, fluffy, harmless form—easily blown from the exhaust.

You want smoothness, snap and full power. You want top mileage. Then certainly you want JENNEY Gasoline—high anti-knock, high test and now Solvenized.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

News for the City Help:

DIFFICULT DAYS are ahead for Boston as a city from the economic standpoint, Mayor Tobin believes . . . Yet the city is not likely ever to be a victim of "payless pay-days," because the Mayor "won't let that happen" . . . But whatever does come to pass in the form of extreme financial stringency, there will be no discharges of city employes . . . Nor will there be pay slashes for a selected portion of the city's workers . . .

George Holland

"It is better for 20,000 persons to pull in their belts a bit, than to have ten per cent of that number bear the whole burden of necessary economy," is the Mayor's philosophy on that subject . . .

The good news is, however, that the Mayor does not anticipate that general wage-cutting will be forced upon him . . . For weeks—since the new administration took over the city, really—there has been uncertainty in all city departments as to whether the pay envelopes will maintain their normal bulge . . . Perhaps these few lines will be reassuring.

Mr. Goldwyn's Press-Agent Is Busy Again:

Two new malapropisms are going the rounds, attributed as usual to the sagacious Sam Goldwyn . . . Mr. Goldwyn is the producer of one or two epics a year which are nearly always huge moneymakers . . . Between pictures, his name is studded in columns of type from coast to coast as author of screamingly funny stories, all making him the butt of their wit . . . Which doesn't hurt business at the box offices . . . And which brings us around to the two latest Goldwynisms

"A verbal contract," says Sam (in somebody's mind), "is not worth the paper it is printed on."

"The reason that Charlie McCarthy and the Seven Dwarfs are so popular," said Sam in New York (according to Adelaide Moffett), "is that people are getting tired of people."

Once Over Lightly:

Russ Murray, general manager of Wonderland Park, quietly checked himself into a bed at the Strong Hospital last night . . . A fortunate bone operation of his nose was performed with high success . . . A bachelor dinner will be held a week from tomorrow midnight with Paul Mullens, manager of the Bradford Penthouse, as the victim . . . Charles Rochat, manager of the Fox and Hounds Club, has assumed the presidency of a local lobster company. Clement Locatelli is associated with Rochat . . .

Horse-racing is a great leveler . . . For the first time since the season opened, the swans and the ducks in the Suffolk Downs pond fraternized freely . . . And one of the intriguing sights at the Downs, for those with field-glasses or excellent eyesight, is the view of sparrows clinging to the finishing wire . . . Frequently the birds hold their perches while the steeds thunder over the line.

Addendum to yesterday's rave about the Mayfair show: Don Loper and Maxine Barrett are so competent in their ballroom dancing chores that this column is tempted to retract some of the harsh words he has applied in the past to this form of art . . . Barbara Belmore, another familiar feature of the Mayfair bill, is the only one of her kind . . . P. S. The Mayfair had the plush ropes strung across the entrance last night.

Although he has covered general sports for this paper for several years, it was not until two weeks ago that Walter Kiley was assigned to covering the ball games . . . His first job was reporting the first game of the Red Sox winning streak of eight . . . Then along came the Bees to astonish the fans by sweeping the series with the Pittsburghs . . . In short, neither Boston team has lost a home ball game since Scribbler Kiley took his official seat in the press coop.

Short Shrift for the Reporters:

Local newsmen were complaining about the unsocial attitude of certain Boston University officials in connection with the Alf Landon visit . . . Each reporter was limited to three questions, and when one of the scribes protested he was informed: "Boston University brought Mr. Landon here—not the newspapers." . . . You may have noticed that the presence of the defeated Republican candidate for President received less space than the event ordinarily might have rated . . . Harvard remedied a long-standing coolness with the press by hiring the able Art Wilde as press relations counsel.

Chatter:

The LVA Club of Brookline will dance tonight at Brookline Elks' Hall . . . Sherry Britton, one of the good-looking girls at the Old Howard (midnight show tonight), is proud of the picture made last week on the steps of the White House. The gentleman at her side is a much-discussed diplomat.

The Hotel Brunswick's Marionette Room will close for the season May 31 . . . The notion of marionettes leading a program of transcribed music, conceived by Paul Bromley of Cambridge, caught on. Business has been profitable from the start.

Harvard Takes Labor Vote

Bitter rivalry, months old, between the American Federation of Labor and the "inside union" of Harvard employes reached a climax today as eight units of workers went to the polls under the supervision of the State Labor Commission.

Both sides claimed overwhelming support. Charges flew thick and fast in the past four months, with the A. F. of L. warning employes that the own union was universally controlled and the agents for the union charging the A. F. of L. with interference.

Three large squares on each ballot give workers an opportunity to vote for the A. F. of L., the university union, or independence.

B. C. to Give Greek Drama

Boston College undergraduates will don the togas and sandals and costumes of the early Greek era as they portray "Antigone," a Greek tragedy in five acts as part of the diamond jubilee celebration of Boston College at Alumni field tomorrow afternoon.

A cast of 15 students and a chorus of 17 members will participate in the presentation, which is being directed by Rev. John L. Bonn, S. J., professor of English at the college.

John F. X. Gaquin of Dorchester will play the leading role of Creon, king of Thebes, and Paul Devlin of Quincy will portray Antigone, the hero of the Sophocles' tragedy.

Messenger Boys Hold Fete Tonight

Hundreds of messenger boys will participate in annual entertainment tonight at the Boston Garden-Arena, Causeway street, when [illegible] Messenger Service Association presents its [illegible] annual field day program.

Two prizes, one to the most valuable player and the other to the most popular messenger boy, will be awarded.

. . . SUMMERFIELD'S LEADS The Way To Prosperity

On Jan. 24th in the Boston Daily Record Summerfield's ran the following editorial:

This was the first published response to the President's appeal to lower prices as a means of increasing business and putting more people to work. For several weeks following announcements appeared in every Boston newspaper, over the radio, by direct mail.

Prices were reduced drastically, regardless of profit, often regardless of cost. The results were extremely gratifying and other concerns soon followed Summerfield with similar attempts to lower prices and create a buying surge.

This program of reducing prices to create more work has been subsequently endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, Labor Unions, Women's Clubs and the General Public.

In April Summerfield's Model Home Plan was inaugurated. The Federal Housing Administration established an official booth. The American Airlines and the Hotel Piccadilly in New York City co-operated, enabling Summerfield's to offer a round trip to New York and $250.00 in furniture free to any couple buying a house guaranteed for value and construction by the F. H. A.

All through this period Summerfield's awarded an orchid a day through a daily radio broadcast to any woman who had been of outstanding service to her Community.

And now Summerfield's leads once more. A new store in Waltham offering new jobs, new hopes, new encouragement to many. A store need not be just a store. Through leadership and co-operation it can be a mighty power for good in the Community it serves.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

Trooper (1938 Model)

The Editor Says: The artist's picture of a cap-and-gowned trooper pursuing a speeding automobile is amusing and true. College men find Massachusetts State police service attractive. Their letters to Commissioner McSweeney prove it.

Prominent among the more than five hundred men who want the seventy-three trooper positions soon to be filled are Harvard men. Off with the black; on with the pretty blue. That's their slogan.

Competing with them will be scores from Boston University, Tufts, Boston College and other leading institutions of learning. They will match wits for the appointments.

Why not? That's the way we view the matter. The semi-military State Police organization offers opportunity and abundant experience for young men fresh from classrooms. Moreover, it affords an excellent test for theories explained in textbooks and expounded by professors.

One thing is certain. Nobody can deny it. Cop Flat Feet has gone the way of buttoned shoes, celluloid collars and flannel nightshirts.

Flat Feet's successor is a PATROLMAN with the accent on "man." So don't try to impress him. Chances are he can impress you with an amazing knowledge of anything and everything, from the Reformation to Relativity.

THE SPEND-LEND BILL, which was passed by the national House of Representatives by a vote of 308 to 89, is apparently going through the Senate in a few days.

It cannot be regarded as a GOOD MEASURE, since it defers still further any efforts toward a balanced Federal budget, and must necessarily entail further additions to the country's debt.

The spending lending program may, indeed, make some temporary semblance of prosperity—but ONLY temporary.

While this is being done, the Government should endeavor to provide more than a mere palliative.

It should endeavor to REDUCE THE ONEROUS TAXATION which now restricts and retards industrial expansion and employment, and thus make TEMPORARY prosperity into PERMANENT PROSPERITY.

If this is not done, there will be more depressions and worse ones, culminating in eventual disaster.

SPEEDY DEFEAT in the Legislature ought to be the fate of the bill that gives the Governor power to oust Massachusetts mayors guilty of wrong-doing in office.

Despite the fact that this measure resulted from recommendations made by the Attorney-General, it is a dangerous and thoroughly unnecessary step in the direction of dictatorship.

The three-member commission which the Governor would appoint to do the actual removing is supposed to consist of two Democrats and one Republican or of two Republicans and one Democrat. Yet, as everybody knows, it would not be difficult for a Governor to find three men who would do his bidding IN SPITE OF PARTY AFFILIATION.

~~[illegible]~~ a particularly partisan Democrat in the Governor's chair might [illegible] to oust all Republican mayors. And a particularly partisan Republican Governor might find it advisable to oust all Democratic mayors.

Legislators would do well to remember that the charters of most cities give the people who elect mayors authority to impeach them. That is the DEMOCRATIC and SAFE way. Let it remain the MASSACHUSETTS way.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON May 20

SO SERIOUS is the situation in the Orient regarded at the Senate, that if this were not a campaign year undoubtedly another Congressional Commission would be sent this summer to the Philippines.

The feeling is deepening among Senators that the whole question of Philippine independence should be reopened, in the light of events which have occurred since the enactment of the law setting a date for the withdrawal of the United States from the Islands, and that a new survey should be made.

It is significant that this view is entertained by certain Senators known to be in close touch with high officials of the Philippine government.

So strong has become the sentiment at the Senate that it is possible a resolution may be introduced before adjournment, authorizing such a survey by a new Congressional commission, to begin in November, immediately after the elections.

YOU WILL probably see Dr. Glenn Frank—policy chief of the G. O. P.—appearing before long before the Minton Committee of the Senate, in his own right.

The unfavorable reaction in the country to the treatment accorded to Dr. Frank when he sought to say a few words to the committee the other day is said to have impressed the Democratic members of the committee of the advisability of a little better show of the traditional spirit of fair play.

As a matter of fact there isn't much of a political character that Dr. Frank could get off his chest now if he were called.

The real policy of the Republican Party was enunciated the other day by the minority members of the House Appropriations Committee, in their report against the spending-spree bill.

Contrary to popular belief Dr. Frank didn't have a hand in that.

NOT ONLY was the President's power over the WPA appropriations fully restored in the House Relief Bill, but the power of Secretary Morgenthau and the Comptroller General was clipped, when they were deprived of the power of audit of WPA expenditures.

Hereafter Mr. Hopkins will audit his own accounts with his own staff.

Hopkins is certainly on top in Washington.

The hand that cradles the "rocks" rules the world!

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE discovery that the old cave-man stuff is a myth, that Don Juan had the right idea, and that Romeo was not a sap but the ideal lover will be welcome news to girls who are weary of the forthright modern love-making and tired of being abruptly kissed and unceremoniously mauled.

There are, of course, a few women—a very few—who like to be treated cavalierly and who thank wistfully of the days when the cave lover hit his lady over the head and dragged her three times around his tent.

But most women are born romanticists and long to be wooed in the Roman fashion with tenderness and flowers and promises.

The longer you can keep a man or a girl "dangling" and guessing, the more thrilling the kiss! A Great Lover never grapples. He never HAS to—because he never skips the sweet amenities.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

Students Must Start At Bottom in Filene's

What lies before the New England college graduate of 1938 as he starts out to seek a job in a Boston department store?

This question is answered today by an executive of one of the nation's best-known establishments, William Filene's Sons Co.

He speaks frankly and interestingly, from a vast treasury of experience. Youth will find his advice honest, sound and practical.

By PAUL WHELTON

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

The 1938 college graduate who calls at one of Boston's big department or specialty stores looking for an executive job might just as well save himself, or herself, the time and effort.

He will receive scant attention from those who do the hiring.

And the authority for this is William H. Bixby, superintendent of personnel at William Filene's Sons Co., whose vice-president, Louis E. Kirstein, is a merchant internationally known.

Hard bitten is William H. Bixby through his long handling of men and women in the workers' world, but by no means is he hard-hearted. Having facts to face, he faces them.

Thus he announces bluntly that A COLLEGE DEGREE IS NO OPEN SESAME TO A JOB IN A BOSTON DEPARTMENT OR SPECIALTY STORE.

On the other hand, he says, IT IS BECOMING INCREASINGLY EASY FOR A COLLEGE MAN TO GET AHEAD IN THE BIG STORES.

Louis E. Kirstein

"The mere fact that he is graduated today from college, with its strict curriculum, is an indication of his capability."

It all resolves itself — once again — to the matter of the individual himself.

"ADVANCEMENT IS RARELY A MATTER OF CHANCE. IT IS INDIVIDUAL EFFORT THAT COUNTS IN THE LARGE STORES TODAY.

"Working at the present time as stock boys in one of Boston's big stores are three young men with both liberal arts and business administration degrees. They've been in the store for over a year and are still looking for advancement."

Supt. Bixby warns against one method of attempting to secure a job.

"The chap who arrives at the employment office," he says, "with a glowing letter from a politician of either high or low rank invariably has two strikes on him at the outset—for behind that letter is usually a campaign promise to be made good.

"And in an election year there is plenty of political persuasion attempted.

"THE HIRING OF COLLEGE GRADUATES TODAY IS A HIGHLY SPECIALIZED JOB.

"Along toward the end of March, students who have been specializing to fit themselves for department store work ask for an appointment with the representative of some large establishment.

"In the case of the Filene store, every student of a New England college who asks for an appointment and interview receives one. None is disappointed.

"If the student passes muster, he or she is invited to come for another interview.

"EACH JOB APPLICANT IS GIVEN A SORRY PICTURE OF THE HARDSHIPS HE MUST ENDURE SHOULD HE BE EMPLOYED — LONG HOURS, STUDY AFTER WORK, THE REALLY MENIAL LABOR, AND THE REBUFFS HE IS CERTAIN TO RECEIVE FROM SOME DEPARTMENT HEADS OR OLD-TIMERS.

"Then comes the telling ordeal although the neophyte little knows he is still under close scrutiny.

"One of the store executives happens into the office as the interview is about to be concluded.

"The man conducting the interview leaves and the second executive strikes up an apparently casual conversation while the applicant is off guard and the newcomer's identity and position are not known.

"This happens several times before the applicant, if fortunate, is told he wins the job.

"AND THEN THE COLLEGE MAN WHO ENTERS THE EMPLOY OF THE BIG STORE BEGINS AS A STOCK BOY AT $18 A WEEK, WITH ADVANCEMENT ENTIRELY UP TO HIMSELF.

"In spite of the depression, or recession, the larger Boston stores are employing about as many persons as they did in the boom days up to 1929.

"However, this year still will be a hard one on the college graduates seeking employment. In fact 1938 will be harder for me to make promises of employment than any year in the past 10.

"Even when the new college graduate obtains the job it and the college degree do not mean the end of study.

"The employes attend school three nights a week, from 6 to 7 o'clock. They study merchandising for two of these nights and store operation on the third night.

"All employes are eligible to attend the classes, as a matter of fact, and the majority do attend.

"But by no means are all Filene's employes college graduates.

"I can tell you about a young man who was working afternoons and evenings in the shipping room. He asked to be transferred to regular store hours, so that he could attend school nights.

"He was moved to the store as a stock boy, graduated to selling and is now an assistant buyer, with a full buyer's portfolio soon.

"AND THIS YOUNG MAN DID NOT EVEN GRADUATE FROM HIGH SCHOOL.

"IT ALL DEPENDS UPON THE INDIVIDUAL HIMSELF."

(Tomorrow another outstanding business leader of New England will advise young people who want jobs.)

Girl About Town -:- by Ann Marsters

IN THE MOURNING MAIL — A letter from a girl friend, whose name is full of sunshine and tropical moonlight, as well as you read a part of it as letter:

Born in the great state of Massachusetts and bearing my eighty-odd years, I have learned, let to meet and see and hear many of the noted ones, back to the great Jenny Lind, whom I, I, Barnum brought over in the early fifties. All the great ones I saw in the theatre of their youth: Sarah Bernhardt, Lily Langtry, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, and many many others.

Ann Marsters

There is a memory that brings back the terror of the Boston fire, when 800 buildings vanished before the flames like dew before the sun. The very air was on fire and you could not touch your hand to a building across the street from the flames. My fare was pearled and my boots were burned. (Men wore long-legged boots in those days.)

I have lived under 22 of our Presidents, and voted for 18. The first was Grant, in 72. I helped to sing the campaign song for the election of the great Lincoln. I love him not so much for the great things he did but for the small, intimate things.

I was in Boston at the 14th of the Boston American, and have constantly perused and enjoyed its pages.

The letter is signed A. W. Arthur Rotch, M. D. And we wish Mr. Arthur a great share of future memories as good as his "reason to live."

HUMOUR DEPARTMENT — It's a story about two writers who were covering themselves with a bottle of Scotch when they wanted and wanted for more to say. Finally a lone clerk appeared overhead and cried: "The writers with casual acquaintance has arrived."

Too bad you weren't a steel or iron company.

The last word is a name.

FOUL WINDS

Four winds blow in from the sea,
You have seen poor mariners die,
Tell me then what shall I do
That my love may be true.
Send the wind from out the south,
Lay no kiss upon his mouth.
And the wind from out the west
Wound the heart within his breast
And the wind from out the east
Send him empty from the feast
And the wind from out the north,
In the tempest thrust him forth,
When thou art more cruel than he,
Then will he be kind to thee.

Sara Teasdale

I SEE by the papers that the contemporary "Girls About Town" have been telling you about the new Green Magazine, which is coming next Sunday, will be a part of the Boston Sunday Advertiser. But no one's told you as yet about the story which Marjorie McBride is contributing to the newborn magazine.

In it, she'll tell you about the Boston debutantes of today—as compared to those of a few years ago, and she'll present rather startling evidence of the decided and glittering change. So Sunday is your chance to take a peak at the evidence. AND TO JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

SHOPPING HINTS — There's a marvelous new shampoo at Jordan's which is called Cara. You buy it according to the coat of your hair and it enhances all its natural hints and sheen. I've heard several movie stars praise it, but it has only recently arrived in Boston. Its $1 a bottle.

R. H. White's has some rare and lovely summer-tailored suits at $ 65. They come in white and pastel shades. Quite often every grade at Hovey's for $10.95. Prints and cottons, too, in a large assortment of styles.

Utility Rates -:- by Hugh S. Johnson

WASHINGTON — Here is something strange about the rate problem in the public utilities. Everyone has water and electricity. Any other kind of service from a penny stamp to an automobile is optional. But almost the sheriff can't levy against you except water and electricity.

It is the one commodity which is always better at a lower price. It is the one thing which everyone wants to consume. It makes no difference how much money has been invested in bricks and mortar. If it can't earn it, the owner gets nothing and it isn't even missed. It is a healthy reason for its mandate and cuts it to. It may be harsh but it is the fact in a good 90 per cent of the cases.

General Johnson

But the utilities are an exception. There the rule is that money invested is entitled to a "fair return." They are monopolies and government must regulate their rates. But does that difference justify rates guaranteeing immediately to investment not operating efficiently?

The "return on investment" rule resulted in races to boost "investment." When the railroads were put together, shrewd buccaneers bought up little ones low and sold them to big ones high.

AFTER THE WAR what had happened to the railroads began to happen to the electrical utilities.

Investments were made on the assumption that them to big ones high.

No wonder of the problem has been effective. The Federal Power Commission has been effective. The Federal Power Commission has been effective. The Federal Power Commission

Male 'Gossips' Exist, Though They're Rare

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Every now and then I find letters which indicate that men have more propensity for gossip than you'd believe. What is your experience on this, reader?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Two young men with whom I am acquainted kept bachelor's hall together. It happened that one of them was interested in me, but as he thought I liked his friend better he was courting another girl at first. Later this young man and the girl broke up. And the boy who was a friend went on a vacation.

His friend told me some shocking and untrue things about the boy who was away on his vacation. When I questioned it I knew it was not true, but I couldn't see him any more. Now the other man comes and apologizes and says those things were untrue. How can I excuse such terrible mistake I made to the finest young man without seeming too fickle, as they're still good friends?

A READER.

DEAR READER:

A young man who would tell "stories" about another man with whom he was supposed to be friendly seems a queer sort of a pal to me. I don't believe any explanation is due, it's up to him. You mustn't of course write to the friend you left any more than you would if you had not been deceived. But you can be friendly when you meet and that's all.

Striped Chiffon Cool

WHEN ALL AROUND you suits wilt and pastels crumple, go in navy blue chiffon, striped coolly with white, accented with cool slivers of pearl buttons. Believe it or not, this all-silk chiffon frock with delightfully simple detail (imagine it with a large dark hat that drops red currants of geraniums off its big brim) is just under seven dollars! The open throat white collar is serenely cool. And we like the contrasting treatment of stripes on the shoulder yoke, the bodice and the pleated skirt. Said pleats are sewn down for complete practicality. For shopping information on this little find, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 4000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American.

Easy for You to Make Ice Cream Desserts

FROM MARTHA LEE'S FRIDAY BROADCAST OVER STATION WMEX—11:30 A. M.

If you were on a reducing diet, which dessert would you choose a dish of vanilla ice cream, a mould of lemon gelatin, raspberry ice, apple pie or angel food cake?

Strangely enough, the average person selects the gelatin as the dessert which will "add the fewest pounds." But is this correct? According to recent information obtained gelatin actually is placed second, while raspberry sherbet, usually designated as being second lowest in caloric value, takes third place.

What is first? What has the lowest caloric value? Ice cream.

An average serving of vanilla ice cream, about one-sixth of a quart, yields 200 calories. The proteins present in significant amount are the proteins of milk and therefore of high quality.

A normal serving of lemon gelatin yields 218 calories, raspberry sherbet 255, apple pie 300, angel food cake 300, lemon pie 450, compared with 200 calories for ice cream.

Isn't necessary to send out at the last minute to get ice cream at the corner drug store. We thought you might like to know this since this is National Ice Cream Week.

Most automatic refrigerators will keep ice cream for 24 hours at the temperature maintained in the freezing compartment, but to be in the best condition for serving, it should be stored at this coldest temperature for at least three hours.

HOW TO DO IT

Line a cold dry refrigerator tray with heavy wax paper having enough edge so that the cream can be covered in the tray. Then run a spatula around the inside of the ice cream carton to loosen the contents from the side.

Transfer the ice cream to the lined tray by turning the carton upside down. Cut through the center of the small frozen cream half to each side of the tray and smooth but do not press the cream down. Fold the wax paper edges to the middle and place in the freezing compartment.

PEANUT BRITTLE BRICK

Place one quart of vanilla ice cream in a paper lined freezing tray. Put it in the refrigerator while you whip one cup of heavy cream until it is stiff but still shiny. Fold in one half cup of crushed peanut brittle and spread it over the top of the vanilla ice cream. With a pastry tube pipe some of this cream mixture to make a border and rosettes. When ready to serve the loaf, remove from the tray with the waxed paper and cut into slices so that some of the design is on each square. If you like, you may substitute crushed macaroons for the peanut brittle. If you do this add one-half cup of sugar to the whipped cream.

DEVIL'S FOOD ICE CREAM LOAF

Line an ice cube tray with waxed paper. Use one quart of vanilla ice cream. Pack half the ice cream into the bottom of the tray; cover with a thin layer of devil's food cake cut to fit. Pack firmly on top the remainder of the ice cream, working it with a spoon until it will spread smoothly. Slip into freezing compartment for 3 hours at lowest temperature. Turn onto chilled platter, peel off waxed paper, and cut. Serve on chilled plates. Serves 8 to 10.

FROSTED STRAWBERRY BRICK

Fill cold waxed paper lined ice cube tray with one quart of strawberry ice cream. Pile one cup of whipped cream on top. Place in freezing compartment to harden for 2 to 3 hours. Lift from tray, remove waxed paper, decorate with slices of fresh strawberries. Cut and serve. Makes 6 servings.

BROWN BETTY

4 apples, pared and sliced
2 cups bread crumbs
4 tablespoons butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup cold water

Cover bottom of buttered baking dish with crumbs. Cover with slices of apples, sprinkle with part of the sugar and with cinnamon. Dot with butter. Repeat until all ingredients are used, then pour water over top. Bake in moderate oven ½ hour. Serve with sweet cream, if desired.

Mary de Forest Wilson, Catherine Brown Become Brides Today

By BETTY ALDEN

THE BOAT for Bermuda sails on Saturday . . . and as "the Enchanted Isle" seems to have replaced Niagara Falls as the ideal spot for honeymoons, Friday weddings are becoming more and more popular, in order to give newlyweds time to reach New York for sailing time . . .

ANNE WHIPPLE

This afternoon two prominent Boston girls are changing their names, and though one will continue to live here, the other will change her address to New York City . . .

Mary de Forest Wilson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Chase Wilson of Cohasset, becomes the bride of Malcolm Seymour, whose family is also closely associated with that popular South Shore colony, where the couple will settle down . . . and Catherine Brown, daughter of Mrs. Walter A. Brown of Brookline, is being married to Francis Ramon Burke, Jr., son of F. Ramon Burke of Quincy . . . Catherine and her bridegroom will reside in Gotham, where he is associated in business with a ship building concern . . .

The Cohasset wedding takes place in St. Stephen's Church, of which the bride's father is rector . . . and since Rev. Wilson is performing the ceremony, the bride's uncle, Grenville Clark is giving her in marriage . . . Yellow calla lilies and white stock are the altar flowers and fragrant bridesmaid for her bridal attire, tulle and lace, and both sides of the church are lined with tall cedar trees . . .

A paler shade of yellow than the callas, champagne color, fashions the costumes of the maid of honor, Mary Dwight Clark of New York, and the bride's two little sisters, Caroline and Madeline the flower girls . . . The six bridesmaids are wearing cornflower blue marquisette with bouquets of bright spring flowers . . . they are the Misses Anne Whipple, Anne Richards, Polly Long, Harriet Wilson, sister of the bride, all of Boston; Mrs. John Coolidge, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Livingston of Washington, D. C. . . .

John W. Coolidge serves as best man for his brother-in-law and the ushers are H. Bowen White, John Homans, S. Warren Sturgis, Howard Wheeler, Francis Hagarty of Boston; and Lucius Loring of New York . . . Following the ceremony the bride and groom are greeting their friends at a reception at St. Stephens . . . The bride attended Winsor School and Bryn Mawr College and belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club . . . Mr. Seymour, who is the son of Mrs. E. Lawrence Oliver and the late Dr. Malcolm Seymour, graduated from Harvard in 1935 and belongs to Hasty Pudding, Institute of 1770, Phoenix, S. K., and the Harvard Club of Boston . . .

Burke-Brown Ceremony

CATHERINE BROWN'S wedding to Francis R. Burke, Jr., culminates a series of pre-wedding parties in which many prominent socialites have taken their turn at entertaining in their honor . . . The wedding is a small informal affair at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard Shearer 3d of Oak Hill Village, with Rev. Howard Key Bartow of Quincy officiating, and the bride's mother giving her in marriage . . .

The bride's beautiful white tulle gown has a full skirt and a row of ruching around the waist coming up into a peak at the waistline to meet the low V neck, and her soft tulle veil falls from a small cluster of orange blossoms which form a little crown on the top of her blonde curls . . . Her bouquet combines orchids, babies breath and heavenly . . . Her sister, Jane, the only attendant, has chosen a full skirted model of dusty pink marquisette with a large navy straw hat and a bouquet of delphinium shading from deepest blue to pale larkspur blue . . . Mrs. Brown, who receives with the bridal couple, is wearing black and white printed chiffon with a corsage of gardenias . . .

John Parker of New York has come on to serve as best man and owing to the simplicity of the wedding there are no ushers . . . The newlyweds are sailing tomorrow for a month's honeymoon in Bermuda . . .

Mrs. Edwards Rollins of Laconia, N. H., announces the marriage of her daughter, Abbie Adaline Rollins, to Gardner Arthur Caverly of Laconia and Boston, son of Mrs. Arthur L. Caverly and the late Mr. Caverly. The bride's father was the late State Senator Rollins.

The wedding took place Wednesday afternoon in the Congregational Church in Laconia. Ernest Caverly of Brookline was best man. The bride and groom will spend the summer in France.

Ballet Benefit Plans Made

While ballerinas and principal dancers of the new Monte Carlo Ballet Russe practice their graceful routines and prepare their fluffy costumes for next season's premiere, a group of prominent Bostonians will spend many vacation hours spreading the news of the benefit performance of the ballet at the Boston Opera House, Wednesday, November 9 sponsored by the Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals.

Mrs. Herman C. Petterson newly elected president of the board of directors of the hospital's aid association held a meeting of her board yesterday to appoint committees in connection with the benefit.

Mrs. Samuel K. Phillips is ticket chairman and others assisting with the plans are Mrs. Conrad Wesselhoeft, Mrs. Edward S. Calderwood, Mrs. Edward Mahady, Mrs. W. Franklin Wood.

Bridge Party In Milton

Valuable prizes are in store for lucky bridge players patronizing the Jeanne d'Arc Academy dessert bridge, scheduled for tomorrow at the school in Milton.

Mrs. George Sullivan, honorary chairman, has named Mrs. James F. Fitzgerald active director of the committee.

Mothers of students and friends of the academy who have already responded to the worthy cause of aiding the building fund are Mrs. John F. Ahearn, Mrs. John Spellman, Mrs. C. E. Crowley, Mrs. John E. Donahue, Mrs. W. G. Finn and Mrs. A. F. Pegman.

Former president of the Cecilian Guild, Mrs. John G. Donehue, is a member of the reservations committee, which also includes Mrs. John F. Lutz, Mrs. John Francis, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Mrs. Joseph F. O'Connell, Mrs. Finton Phelan, Mrs. Guido Rugo, Mrs. John B. O'Hara and Mrs. Thomas Reardon.

Countess Will Wed

Countess Eleanore Colleredo-Mannsfeld, daughter of Count and Countess Colleredo Mannsfeld of New York and Vienna, will become the bride of Frederick Wilhelm von Meister tomorrow at the Long Island estate of Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, the bride's step-grandmother.

The bride's mother is the former Nora Iselin, daughter of the late C. Oliver Iselin, former member of the Austro-Hungarian diplomatic corps. The bride is a sister of Count Franz Colleredo-Mannsfeld who married the former Mabel Bradley of Boston and Wellesley.

The Countess made her debut in New York and Boston in the 1931-32 season. During that winter she and her mother were frequent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Tucker Burr of Boston.

Charlie Rogers Out As Universal Chief

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, May 20. The long rumored break between Carl Laemmle and Universal happened yesterday in New York at a meeting of the board of directors. Charlie, who has held the world's fattest $2,000 a week contract and over 10,000 shares of Universal stock, will be paid in full for his contract which has only 1½ years to run, which will bring him close to half a million.

Louella O. Parsons

When the new Board of Directors met in New York, Carl Laemmle, Jr., was appointed general manager of production. Junior has been groomed for the job for the last two years. He has been assisted by Henry MacRae, who has been in charge of the Western Universal lot. Junior has been in charge of the New York office. Charlie will remain with the company as an actor, but his days of producing are over.

Carl Laemmle, Sr., has been the most generous man in the picture business. He has given many people their first chance. Among them are Mary Philbin, Lon Chaney, Norman Kerry, Reginald Denny, Hoot Gibson, Edmund Lowe, Laura La Plante, Jean Hersholt, Universal's present general manager of production, and Junior Laemmle, himself.

Universal has been in the red for the last two years. Charlie has been blamed for the company's financial difficulties. He has been accused of extravagance in production. He has been criticized for his method of doing business. He has been charged with not keeping in touch with the financial end of the business.

Universal has had some of the biggest successes in the history of the picture business. Among them are "All Quiet on the Western Front," "Broadway," "Show Boat," "The Cat and the Fiddle," "Back Street," "Imitation of Life," "Waterloo Bridge," "Magic Flame," "Frankenstein," "The Invisible Man," "The Old Dark House," "The Kiss Before the Mirror," "Only Yesterday," "Carnival," "Sons of the Desert," "Laughing Boy," "Pilgrimage," "Back Pay," "Counsellor at Law

Keith's Swings To Goodman Rhythm

By PEGGY DOYLE

Benny Goodman, as modest and quiet-spoken a celebrity as you'll find in a year's lion-hunting, brought his famous swing orchestra and pandemonium—to the Keith Memorial yesterday.

As he himself says, swing is a state of mind. But, like Ipana and the Big Apple, it obviously is designed for youth. Your reviewer was one of the few oldsters in the opening-show audience which was noticeably well-eyed, teen-aged and carefree.

These classroom fugitives "get in a groove," as the swing glossary has it, from the instant Swing-King Goodman swings into the opening theme, "Let's Dance." And have these jitterbugs rhythm! They might have rehearsed with the orchestra, so perfectly do they beat time with hands and feet.

Next to "King" Goodman the brown-skinned bundle of nerves, Lionel Hampton, appeared to be the favorite of these boys and girls. Equally skilled at the drums and the vibraphone, Hampton was accorded sensational salvos of applause when he concluded his musical offerings.

The major Goodman band hits, "Bugle Call Rag," "Don't Be That Way," "One O'Clock Jump" and "Good Bye," elicited such unstinted response yesterday that the balcony-floor vibrated.

Another Lindyman who found favor with the hockey players was Johnny Woods who satirized the nationwide radio programs. His Boake Carter, Kate Smith, Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie and Lester Allen take-offs were immense and his Rudy Vallee crooning tops.

A pale-gold haired soloist in diamonte-dusted white chiffon, Martha Tilton, pleased the youngsters mightily especially during her warbling of "I Let a Song Go Out of My Heart."

On the same bill is the Ida McCarey-directed Universal production, "Goodbye Broadway," boasting a cast headed by three excellent performers, Alice Brady and Charles Winninger (who deserve a better break).

"Goodbye Broadway" is a slightly amusing sentimental tale of Jerry Lund (Miss Brady), "Sketches of Broadway." The Manners resented the Mad-Lunds for some reason or other, but in a small town feud all the people in their hostile and rival camps (even the cats), the Lunds' last picture is made.

UPTOWN'S BILL

"The Baroness and the Butler," comedy current showing at Walter Reade's Art Theatre, is the chief attraction of the dual bill for the week starting today.

'Cocoanut Grove' Entertains All

Harriet Hilliard and Fred MacMurray at Met.

Lacking the air fare to Los Angeles and the Ambassador Hotel's glittering Cocoanut Grove, Paramount's "Cocoanut Grove," a flicker built around this fabulous haunt of the picture-stars, is a substitute the Metropolitan screen offers this week.

"Cocoanut Grove," pleasantly entertaining and guaranteed not to overtax brain fag, provides box-office come-hither in the names of Fred MacMurray, Harriet Hilliard, the Yacht Club Boys, Eve Arden and Ralf Davis, notably.

MacMurray is an orchestra leader with a trader but without heart, of engagements when Harriet Hilliard presents herself as a possible teacher for Billy Lee, the band's mascot, whose pet name is "Half-Pint." MacMurray has weighed an audition at the famed Cocoanut Grove for his outfit but stranded somewhere in the mail west, the latter reluctantly disbands.

It is Miss Hilliard who discovers that the one loyal member of the troupe, Harry Owens, is the author of "Sweet Leilani" and a trunkful of unpublished potential song hits. She also reveals that she is a songstress and not a teacher by trade.

Leaving through town in the trailer with the radio blasting a hurry-call for the disbanded orchestra, MacMurray finally rounds up his men. On their way to California their trailer is wrecked. They arrive there differently, however, finally arriving for the vitally important audition. But there is another hitch. The action now and again appears rather slow-motion.

The Yacht Club Boys, members of the band contribute importantly to "Cocoanut Grove." They figure largely in the picture's action and have some good song numbers, the best being "We're Four of the Three Musketeers."

MacMurray, who used to be the California Collegians' band leader, is entirely convincing [illegible] ing the part. Harriet Hilliard, so pretty her red hair defies description by ink, is a delight. Eve Arden, the studio's latest find, is another to be heard from. Ralf Davis is the band's vocalist.

Austen Lake Says

Animated Tintype; Hans Wagner Speaks His Piece

JUST BEFORE THE PITTSBURGH PIRATES ended their Boston series, an old gentleman with Father Goose features, parenthetical legs and the appearance of a Gothic gargoyle, joined the club. He had been lecturing in Harrisburg, Pa., on a brief furlough from his coaching duties. Silver haired, grizzled of chin and amiable as a grandfather, Honus Wagner is 64 now, but spry, leathery and solid as a fireplug.

AUSTEN LAKE

Honus, christened John H., had generous words to say for the modern ball players, who he finds superior to the old-time buckaroos of his own playing era. Team play has improved, he says, and the picturesque rumpots who infested the game in his youth are replaced by docile, well-behaved, commercial types who are smarter in the noggin and render a more conscientious dollar's worth of action.

The feuds, combats and brawls of the teams he said, has been replaced by workmanlike competence and the players rarely attempt to stab each other on the base lines with their sharp cleats or wrestle like rival mountain clans. And he said the managers of his day had been a combination bouncer, keyhole spy, police magistrate and pageant impersonator in addition to his day-to-day duties. The better teams wouldn't have the teams because the more mischievous spirits ripped their bedsheets, were loud and offensive, played all-night poker, yanked midnight fire-alarms and assaulted sidewalk pedestrians from the upstairs windows with water-filled paper bags.

Finds Moderns Superior

THE ANCIENT HERO THOUGHT THAT the kids of today fielded more sharply and hit more scientifically than the old timers, who often stood out prominently because they were placed in inferior surroundings. And he insisted that most of the present major league clubs would give the elder breed a sound trouncing in any seven-game series, being generally shrewder, better conditioned, and more highly developed in the intricate arts.

Robert's Pilot Jailed As Casey Is Given Nod

"THAT'LL COST YOU JUST $27.50." Bail Commissioner Joseph Fahey consoles Eddie Quinn, manager of Yvon Robert after his incarceration for precipitating riot at Garden.

"OUTSIDE, BOY." Three Johns, all Laws, give Quinn the old heave-ho after he takes a punch at Ted Tonneman, referee, for refusing to give third fall to his boy, Yvon.

Boxing Results

PORTLAND, Me.—Paul Junior (150½), Lewiston, took unanimous decision from Johnny Belisle (151), New Haven, Ct., 10 rounds.

NEW YORK—Peter Zivic (Detroit) and Ernie Roth (Chicago) postponed to June 2nd because of rain.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y.—Matt Perfetto, 154, Amsterdam, defeated Eddie Varian, 156, New York, 10 rounds. Jack Hagger (Worcester, Mass.) received bad decision over Jimmy Brooks (Brooklyn) 10 rounds.

ATLANTA, Ga.—John Henry Lewis, 186, Phoenix, Ariz., awarded eight brass weight champion knocked out Tiger Ray Ivey, 195, Tampa, Fla., in 7th round of scheduled 12.

FALL RIVER—Vincent Vaccino (147), Portland, Me., took 10 round decision from Jack Moran, 146, Fall River.

'Back of My Hand to You, Sir'

No man in tennis, amateur or professional, has mastered the backhand stroke so completely as National Champion Donald Budge of California. It is the most destructive weapon in his varied armory. Here the magic eye camera breaks down the action and shows you how he does it. The series of photos was made during a practice session at Forest Hills, where Budge is tuning for the Wimbledon championships. Note the stiff arm as Budge brings the racquet head around swinging his body into the stroke. Note, too, that Budge violates what has been regarded as a cardinal rule. He does not "keep the eye on the ball," but is gauging the baseline and his opponent's position.

R. I. Favorite In Title Meet

By MURRAY KRAMER

PROVIDENCE, May 20—Another fast ending college sports year brings the trials of the 52d annual running of the New England intercollegiates to the fore late this afternoon at Brown Field to determine the finalists who will compete tomorrow.

Rhode Island, the defending champion as a result of piling up 54 points to edge Connecticut by the mark, Dr. Lewis W. Jones' Ram track squad is favored to repeat. Maine, Boston University, Connecticut and Rhode Island State are expected to battle for the remaining places in the finals.

BEST BET—CLINGENDAAL 5TH RACE

SUFFOLK DOWNS, May 20—War Minstrel and Corinto, [illegible] as the Mrs. E. Denemark Entry, are highly favored by [illegible] to cop off major honors in the $10,000 added Pilgrim Handicap mile and a furlong feature here tomorrow.

[illegible] gamely on his last [illegible] to finish third to Kindacorn and Lady Lee. BELIEVER, a favorite [illegible] will be very dangerous [illegible] event of mud.

FIRST RACE
Candar, Moon Harvest, Believer.

[illegible] MOON HARVEST [illegible]

SECOND RACE
Notoriety, Evening Time, Princepessa.

NOTORIETY stepped [illegible] longs over a dull track in [illegible] a week ago when [illegible] Pilgrim. The [illegible] Tubeareer steps up a couple [illegible] on the class ladder in this [illegible] but [illegible] good enough to pay. EVENING TIME scored in Lone Wave in [illegible] race should [illegible] PRINIPESSA.

THIRD RACE
Good Odds, Iskie, War Moon

GOOD ODDS [illegible] a short field when [illegible] tried out by ISKIE. With [illegible] of improvement, the D. J. Sullivan [illegible] horse should easily [illegible] the [illegible] on ISKIE, who has a [illegible] shot of [illegible] [illegible] at best chances. WAR MOON [illegible] three, or thereabouts [illegible] at his Maryland outings.

FOURTH RACE
Legion, Notice Me, Vote Boy.

LEGION, second to Hollywood [illegible] most recent race needs [illegible] duplicate that [illegible] performance to [illegible] Brackets. NOTICE ME which [illegible] second [illegible] back of Top selection [illegible] class shapes up [illegible] VOTE BOY.

FIFTH RACE
Clingendaal, Orientalist, Stage Beauty.

CLINGENDAAL will have only ORIENTALIST to [illegible] The latter has been thoroughly [illegible] since his successful campaign in Florida competition and comes strongly recommended to the cracker. STAGE BEAUTY, in under a feather of 95 pounds [illegible] probably be in front during the early running.

SIXTH RACE
War Minstrel, Corinto, Black-Birder

Bows out WAR MINSTREL'S dull effort in the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico. The Royal Mare's [illegible] did not like that track. Mile in 1:39 3-5 indicates fitness. CORINTO has a good Maryland record and may take it all if the top one makes any mistakes. BLACKBIRDER'S indifferent performance of the other day goes for the boys on the end book.

SEVENTEENTH RACE
Pinshot, Tobacco, Braving Danger.

R. Pinshot is shedding 14 pounds in actual weight and gets a whole skyful of stars from the speed chart experts. TOBACCO won her last race in fast time. BRAVING DANGER will be very dangerous in the event of mud.

EIGHTH RACE
Parity, Mad Frump, Prince Dean

PARITY was in receipt of poor handling when nosed out by Mariella in his last race. MAD FRUMP received two useful tighteners at the recent Pimlico session and will be coming up fit and ready. PRINCE DEAN is improving.

Cubs Prove Giants Can Be Beaten

Grimm Shows He's Still Boss

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—It doesn't take a gossip columnist to detect the honeymoon is over for the Giants and that from now on they are going to find life extremely real and earnest in the National League.

The news became community property during the last three days, with the first eastern visit of the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs impressed everybody within eye and earshot as a more belligerent, dangerous crew than they had been pictured in yarns from the West while the Jints showed unmistakable symptoms of coming down to earth, losing the three-game series to the Chicagos.

One thing is certain, at least: The Terrymen are not going to make a runaway as long as the Chicago entry continues to fight and fume like it did at the Polo Grounds. Charley Grimm, furthermore, still is the boss of the outfit and he's acting madder than Donald Duck most of the time.

GRIMM'S THE BOSS

Everybody was waiting to see the Chicago "Board of Strategy" in action and rabid Giants rooters longed to applaud any signs of dissension among the brass hats. They were disappointed. Gabby Hartnett, the big catcher, is handling the Cubs' pitchers on the field and waving in the relief men from the bull-pen, but otherwise Grimm is the works.

He demonstrated that pretty conclusively when he jerked the clouting Tony Lazzeri right out of the line-up after the first game of the Giants' series. Neither is he getting any back-talk from Dizzy Dean, who is more tractable than Frankie Fritsch would believe.

Dizzy, against orders, got out in front of the dugout the other day and tossed a couple of balls to a teammate before somebody noticed him and yelled to Grimm. "Cut it," said Charlie in a quiet voice and Dizzy did without a word of argument. Diz, incidentally, blames the cold weather for the failure of his $185,000 arm to regain its zing.

BEAT ACES

The Cubs were the first team to knock the frosting off the mound, and they gave Hub a solid thumping in the second game.

The gap between the Giants and Giants' twin aces, Cliff Melton and Carl Hubbell. They didn't beat Melton, but they got him off the their pursuers is due to narrow, gradually, perhaps, but surely. They still look like a little the best outfit in the league when they are at full strength and hitting even normally, but they couldn't have been as good as they threatened to be in the opening weeks.

MOODS OF THE CUBS—These four players of the Chicago Cubs are not emoting for screen tests, they are just snapped in their various moods before a recent game. At left, Billy Herman, second baseman, furrows his brow as, sprawled on the bench, he mulls over a problem. Next we have Dizzy Dean with a rather dizzy expression. The poor guy sure has something to worry about, what with his arm trouble and everything. The smiling gent is Catcher Gabby Hartnett, whose slogan is "keep smiling." Gabby put 15 years in the majors and is still going strong. Why shouldn't he smile. Now at the right, chewing on his fingernail, is a truly worried gentleman, Frank Demaree. Frank's batting average for five years was .317. Right now he's only hitting .254. International News Photograph Service

Stengel All In

Umps Have B's Boss Down

Casey Stengel is all but exhausted, his pants worn shiny from body-Englishing his Bees home to three successive victories by the margin of one run . . . his patience worn to the limit by arguments with the umpires.

When the precocious scoreboard keeper at the Beehive shot up 11 runs for the Red Sox in the second inning against the White Sox the fans went into a paroxysm . . . but it was only his idea of fun-making.

Vince DiMaggio has gone hitless in 14 times at bat since returning to Boston . . . and he has struck out six times, four of them in succession in the Pittsburgh finale.

Contrasting this, Max West finally has blossomed forth in a rash of base hits . . . Yesterday he collected three, one a mighty triple of some 415 feet to deep center field, eventually developing into a run . . . again he singled Tony Cuccinello home from second.

The "umps" have come in for a world of crowd baiting in Boston . . . Stengel is still sore about a decision on Hutchinson.

The game was deadlocked 3 all. Mueller singled and Warstler walked to open the Bees' half of the ninth inning . . . Swift served up a ball on Hutch and then was yanked in favor of Truett Sewell, who pitched a wide one which Ira tried to bunt but which hit him instead as he was backing away at the last moment.

Umpire Ballanfant, at the plate, waved the batter to first, filling the bases, and none out . . . But Umpire Klem, at first, overruled his brother official, and forced Hutch to return to the plate . . . whereupon one Stengel flew high, wide and handsome . . . but to no avail . . . Klem ruling that the Bee pitcher had deliberately walked into the ball.

Then Hutchinson struck out and Fletcher hit into a double play and the ball game proceeded to go into extra innings for the second day running.

There was that other storm, which blew up in the sixth when Hutchinson singled to open the inning and Fletcher, on an attempted bunt, popped to Swift in the box, the latter purposely dropping the ball and throwing to Young who had come over to cover first. Young tagged out Hutch, who hadn't moved off the bag and then touched the bag for the force-out on Eibie, who had stopped running. There were all sorts of arguments over that one, Stengel laying down the law which states that an infielder can't deliberately drop an infield fly, the arbiters insisting that Swift dropped it by accident.

Fortunately the Bees won anyway so there were no post-mortems or game protests.

Helen Victor; Enters Net Final

SURBITON, Eng., May 20 (AP)—Although she lost a set for the first time since she began her current British tennis invasion, Helen Wills Moody today moved into the final round of the Surrey championships by eliminating Peggy Scriven of England, 6—2, 5—7, 6—3.

Her opponent in the finals tomorrow will be Margot Lumb, British squash racquets star. Miss Lumb eliminated Nancy Wynne, Australia's No. 1, 9—7, 7—5.

The surprise of the men's singles semifinals was the victory of E. J. Filby over Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin by 8-6, 6-4. In the final Filby will meet J. S. Oliff, who turned back Kho Sin Kie of China, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

'Smoky' as 'Swifty' Sub Urged by 'Cigar' Connors

Judges Pore Over Names

The judges in the Swifty contest are still at work. They hope to come up with the winners by the first of the week. Then the name for Swifty and the winners will be announced in the Boston Evening American.

"Cigars" Connors

Looking over the big batch of mail are Adnah Neyhart, Managing Director of Wonderland; President George C. Funk and Russell Murray.

Among the interesting letters received was one from the famous Johnny "Cigars" Connors. Johnny, who trains on cigars and who holds all cigar smoking world records, suggests the name of "Smokey" for Swifty.

Foxx Boosts Sox Reserves

This is sixth of a series of daily articles written EXCLUSIVELY for the Boston Evening American by Jimmy Foxx, sensational slugger, on the new Red Sox, and written just previous to the club's recent departure for the West.

By JIMMY FOXX
As Told to Walter Kiley

The Red Sox have much to be thankful for in the possession of fine infield and outfield replacements.

Eric McNair is mighty valuable to the club's success even when he's sitting on the bench.

He can play any one of the four infield positions and play them well, thereby relieving Manager Joe Cronin's mind of worry over injuries.

Eric McNair

He is as versatile as any player in the game and doesn't need to apologize for hitting.

Leo Nonnenkamp, our rookie outfielder, shapes up as a great fielder in the making. He is one of the league's fastest and showed his ability when he came through handsomely when Ben Chapman was suspended during a recent fracas in the Detroit series.

The kid has courage. He doesn't phase easily. He will be bound to do good work for, us before the season is over.

Fabian Gaffke hasn't had much chance to show his talents. But he made a fine impression in the South, particularly at bat.

There's never any telling when these youngsters may be called on to plug up a hole made by injuries to regulars.

The Chicago White Sox are a typical example of the value of good reserves.

What they ever would have done without good fill-in players when Jimmy Dykes was hit so badly during the past few weeks is more than I know.

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American Jimmy Foxx will continue his interesting series on the new Red Sox.

ROBERT'S PILOT JAILED

decision had deprived Robert of the title.

Quinn was arrested by the police and booked on a charge of assault and battery at Station 1.

However, he was bailed out early this morning.

At the time the tussle ended the Frenchman was wrestling in brilliant form. His speed and amazing skill had overcome Casey's power and effectiveness at close quarters.

In his dressing room following the bout, Robert insisted he had pinned Casey repeatedly, and that Referee Tonneman had deprived him of a well earned victory.

"I don't blame Eddie Quinn for losing his head," declared Robert. "He saw me pin Casey three or four times without getting the decision. No wonder he rushed into the ring and punched Tonneman."

Casey declared after the bout that at no time were his shoulders pinned for three seconds during the final action, and felt that if there had not been a disqualification he would have won anyway.

DANNO TRIUMPHANT

Dan O'Mahony, former world's heavyweight champion, showed top form as he pinned Maurice Robert, brother of Yvon, in 6m. 1s. with his famous "Irish Whip."

George (Dazzler) Clark of Scotland, pinned Roy Dunn, former Olympic wrestler in 11m. 42s. with a body swing and press.

Bob Gregory of England, husband of Princess Baba, made a sensational hit when he pinned Art Grennon of Chicago in 11m. 30s. with a surf lock. Gregory locked both of Grennon's legs and then applied wrist locks. The helpless Grennon was forced to give up.

PRINCESS CHEERED

Gregory displayed amazing speed and a fine assortment of holds.

The Princess Baba watched the bout from the royal box and was pleased at the ovation given her husband as he left the ring.

Charlie Strack of Oklahoma pinned Les Ryan of Fordham with a head and hiplock in 12m. 51s.

Pietro Gobbo, giant Italian, used an inside crotch hold, body lift and slam to toss Jack Marshall of California in 6m. 8s.

Dick Shikat of Germany stormed into the Boston Garden ring, and Paul Bowser named Marvin Westenberg as his opponent. Westenburg was forced to give up in 14m. 22s. when Shikat scored with a pinishing hammerlock.

The gigantic Chief Saunooke, a 375 pounder, was pinned in 4m. 27s. by Wladyslau Talun of Poland.

Song and Dance Man Peps Up Jobs Probe

you are, John; you're an examiner of claims."

Sullivan admitted he was a delegate to the 1936 Democratic convention in Springfield at which Governor Hurley was nominated. He and other delegates, now job-holders, summoned as witnesses, turned the legislative inquiry into almost a convention reunion today.

HURLEY DELEGATES

Thirty witnesses, in all, were on hand, all of them job-holders and most of them ex-"Hurley delegates."

It was learned that it originally was the intention of the committee to summon 60, but Laurence Harrington, the executive secretary of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, objected that to call that many at once would "disrupt" his office entirely.

Bowker questioned Sullivan about his duties in Springfield.

"What kind of work do you do?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm everything there," was Sullivan's reply. "I'm examiner of claims, I'm the contact man, I take their applications, then I run over and examine 'em, then I put 'em through the works.

"And I sing 'em songs, too."

SONG AND DANCE MAN

"You what?" said Bowker. "What do you mean you 'sing 'em songs?' "

"Well, they come in down on their luck," Sullivan explained, "and if it's an Irishman I sing him an Irish song, and if it's a Polish man or a Frenchman or an Italian, the same way. I sing to them all, and even I tap dance."

"Do you mean to tell me you can still keep them happy, even when they don't get their checks?" Bowker inquired.

"You come up and watch me sometime, mister," Sullivan replied. "They might go out without any money, but they have a big smile."

LUCKY TO GET JOB

Throughout Sullivan's testimony, the hearing room was in near-riots of laughter. He testified, quite frankly, that he'd heard there were jobs to be had. He'd known Joseph Mawhinney, assistant executive secretary of the UCC, "for years," he said, so—

"I hopped a train and came down to No. 1 State street to see Joe."

"You figure you were pretty lucky you got that job?" Attorney Warren Patten, counsel for the legislative committee, asked.

It was in response to this question that Sullivan replied:

"Yes, sir. It's the first time I ever won a raffle."

JUDGE PHELAN'S AID

The name of Judge John V. Phelan, recently appointed to the Essex County probate bench by Governor Hurley, was injected into the hearing by another "Hurley delegate" witness, James S. Hayes, Chase street, Lynn, now a $1920 district superintendent of claims for the UCC.

Hayes testified that the reference signature, "John V. Phelan," appearing on his recent application for a civil service examination was that of Judge Phelan, who, he explained, is "a relative of my brother by marriage."

Hayes denied, however, that political influence had anything to do with his getting his $1920-a-year job.

Francis P. McMahon, Wellesley avenue, Lowell, was another of those to testify.

McMahon also is a present member of the Lowell city council.

Aside from that, he explained in answer to Attorney Patten's questions, he has run a lunch car in Lowell, on and off, for the past 19 years.

He was a delegate to the "Hurley convention," he admitted, but he insisted no one helped him get his $1560-a-year job with the UCC.

Another witness was Fritz Bittinger of Court street, Plymouth.

Bittinger likewise is an examiner of claims for the UCC at a salary of $1560 annually.

He admitted he's the man who handled Gov. Hurley's campaign radio advertising.

Drills Hole in Wall To Die From Gas

FITCHBURG, May 20—After boring a hole through a wall, threading through it a long rubber tube and sealing the window and door, John Laibo, 63, committed suicide today in the bathroom of his Elm street home.

His son, Einar, called police when he arrived home and smelled gas. Firemen and police worked an hour and a half over the body with an inhalator, to no avail.

Car Skids Into Tree, 2 Die at Grafton

Back Bay Victim Wed Only Year

Austin Avery, 30, husband of only a year, of Newbury street, Back Bay, and pretty Alice Le Febvere, 30, Fisherville, were killed instantly today when the automobile in which they were riding skidded on a curve, struck a tree and overturned in Grafton.

Albert C. Suklis, 31, of June street, Worcester, and Miss Iona Parent, 20, of School street, Fisherville, escaped injury when the impact of the machine against the tree hurled them into a field.

Suklis was found an hour after the accident seated in the automobile of Medical Examiner Walter Mahoney, who pronounced Avery and Miss LeFebvere dead.

Suklis was taken to the Grafton barracks of the state police and arrested for intoxication.

According to police the group participated in a Worcester party and had reached a point less than a half-mile from the LeFebvere girl's home when Avery missed a turn in the road. Police declared the car was being operated at a fast rate of speed when it crashed into the tree.

A Boston Evening American reporter informed Mrs. Avery of the death of her husband. She said he was a salesman and that they came to Boston from Goffstown, N. H. She said she did not know either the LeFebvere or the Parent girl.

BEES GAME OFF

Cold and threatening weather cancelled the first game of the Bees-Cardinals game at National League field today.

The teams will play a single game tomorrow, and Ladies' Day will be observed.

Where Two Died—Death took the wheel of this car last night, skidding around a curve, hurtling into a tree at Grafton, Austin Avery, 30, bridegroom of a year, who lives in Back Bay, and Alice Le Febvere, 30, of Fisherville were killed. Another couple escaped injury. You see a wrecking car just before the ruins were removed today.

Pop! Goes Salisbury's $62,000; Jail for Shute

SALEM, May 20—Judge Edward T. Broadhurst bitterly scored state legalization of horse race betting when, in Superior Criminal Court today, he sentenced Walter R. Shute, former town treasurer and tax collector for Salisbury, to three to five years in state's prison.

"This man like a lot of others, lost money for the gratification of seeking more," Judge Broadhurst said. "But the saving of a reputation, a career, a life such as his is more important than all the revenue the commonwealth can derive from horse race bets."

District Attorney Hugh Cregg said Shute began to bet in 1932 when he was delivering grain to horsemen, and won $4700 in small bets. Then a man named "Pop" "gave him a winner" for $200 that paid Shute $2200.

On six subsequent days, for $1000 each, "Pop" gave Shute six winning horses that paid more than $30,000. Then, Cregg declared, Shute gave "Pop" a $5000 present and began to follow the horses all over the country on his own.

On three bets he lost $10,000, $15,000 and $15,000. Cregg said Shute confessed to taking about $62,000 from the town of Salisbury, of which about $40,000 is covered by bond.

Roosevelt to Run, Says Hamilton

DENVER, May 20 (AP)—John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, told reporters today he believes President Roosevelt "is very definitely a candidate for Democratic renomination right now."

He added, however, that the situation might change by 1940.

BOMBING IN FRANCE

PARIS, May 20 (INS)—Mobile guards were rushed to Rennes today after terrorists, demanding autonomy for Brittany, threw a bomb outside the Rennes police station.

Song, Dance And Fun in Jobs Probe

"It's the first time I ever won a raffle."

That was the way John L. Sullivan, Vinton street, Springfield, described his getting his present $1560-a-year job as examiner of claims for the Unemployment Compensation Commission today.

It wasn't until he got his first pay-check after two weeks, Sullivan further told the joint legislative committee investigating gift jobs, that he knew, even, what job he had received.

"Then how did you know?" inquired Representative Philip G. Bowker, member of the committee.

"Well," testified Sullivan, "I figured it all out, and it came to $1560, so I says to myself, 'Here
